

Books.

FOOCROW DOCK.

IVERN MUN.

THE above granite faced DOCK, of the following Dimensions, viz: Length, 300 feet. Breadth at Bottom, 40 feet, is capable of receiving Vessels drawing 13 to 16 feet, at the state of the Tides will allow. The Dock runs due North and South, and is bounded by Steam-dyke.

The above premises comprise a large Machine-Shop, containing a WITHWORTH'S 12-INCH SCREW CUTTING GAP LATHE.

DRILLING AND SCREWING MACHINES.

A GANT'S SAW & CO. LTD.

LARGE GOWNS are on the premises for STOWAGE OF CARGO, &c., &c., A large Stock of Woods, Metal, &c., &c., always at hand.

The Dock Steam Tug Woolong is available at all times for two vessels to or from Sea, at current rates on application.

JOHN S. SKY, Superintendent.

The list of Charges for lighting or removing vessels can be obtained from Messrs. Dr. SILVER & CO., Hongkong, 578

FORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COM-MANDERS are informed that the DOCK COMPANY'S ESTABLISHMENTS at the above Port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING AND SPARRING VESSELS CLEANING AND PAINTING IRON SHIPS AND STEAMERS.

THEIR LARGE GRANITE DOCK, has 230 feet. length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive Vessels of 15 to 17 feet. draught. It is a

CAISSON GATE, and THE POWERFUL CENTRIFUGAL
S. STREAM.

An Engineers workshop fitted with Lathes and Tools, driven by steam, Iron and Brass Foundries, Boiler-makers, a large Smithy, and Carpenters' and Boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, Vessels drawing 12 feet. Spars, Timber, and other Dock-yard material kept in stock.

Quarters for Officers, and a DRY GODOWN OR STORES, of Vessels under repair.
t. 2317 Amoy, December, 1868.

The delivery of the Daily Press from this office commenced on Wednesday morning at 8.15, and the last messages left the office at 8.35.

The Daily Press

HONGKONG, FEBRUARY 9TH, 1871.

The Hongkong Chamber of Commerce, in their memorial with regard to public Gambling, hit the exact point upon which the question must turn, in noticing that, with an improvement in the numerous Police Forces existing in the Colony, it would be quite possible to at least reduce Gambling to such an extent that it could only be carried on in the worst localities, and in secret haunts,

and that increased energy on the part of the Force would probably prove sufficient to put it down in these places also. This is a plain and common sense view of the subject. No optimist ideas or exaggerated hopes enter into the argument. It amounts simply to this.
If we cannot suppress gambling, essentially, at least let us do our best; and we can not say that we have done so best, or indeed that we have done anything, so long as the most strenuous efforts are not made to improve the Police Force. This impossibility of doing this by the ordinary means was
dwell upon so strongly by Sir RICHARD
MACDONNELL in his advocacy of the Gambling Licensing, that many were misled into an exaggerated idea of the difficulty.

Laterly, however, sufficient has been revealed, with regard to the utter want
of organisation in the Police Service, to make it clear that very little weight can be attached to any arguments based upon the impossibility of obtaining a Force, which would be quite sufficient to cope with illegal gambling haunts, at least to the extent suggested by the Chamber of Commerce, which is that gambling would be reduced to a minimum, and rendered disreputable, in the eyes of the populace. It is only during the last two years that the defects of the Hongkong Police Force have been thoroughly revealed. The mixed jurisdiction, by means of which the Registrar-General's Department is made to exercise a species of Police Government utterly subversive of Discipline in the Regular Force; the absence of any means of detecting crime; the complete ignorance not only of the Police, but of the whole Government, with regard to what is going on in the Colony (in witness to the recently discovered
Salt Taxing Office, of which the officials knew absolutely nothing); the reliance placed by the Executive upon the Private Detectives of Mr. D. R. CALDWELL, even with regard to the most notorious matters—all these circumstances, carefully hidden from the public view, have been dragged to light during the last two years. And what is the conclusion?—simply that a policy of "push it" has been systematically carried on; that no bold idea has ever been made to strike at the root of the defect in the government of the Colony, but that the gambling system was snapp'd, at as a species of compromise, which would, at least
have the effect of keeping "unpleasant facts"
in connection with the detectiveness of the Police and the local administration with regard to the Chinese, in the background;
while it would also secure a handsome sum
annually to the Government. The money, it was always alleged, and as it turns out,
truly alleged, by Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL,
was not wanted—although he declared repeatedly that the Colony was on the verge of Bankruptcy; but, while giving full credence to Sir RICHARD's declaration, it must be confessed he framed his estimate
so as to spend the money royal. All this time, however, no sincere effort was made to amend the Police Force. It had been repeatedly pointed out that the chief thing
wanted was a Detective Service, a fact indeed
so obvious that it might be imagined it hardly required pointing out at all. Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL proposed everything
but a Detective Service; and further actually arranged that only two Inspectors out of the whole Force should have access to the Gambling Forces. Thus the Licensing system tended directly to render the Police Force
less efficient than ever at the very point
in which it required ameliorating; and it gradually became more, and more apparent that the Authorities were utterly in the dark.

This detectiveness of the Police Force,
deliberately incurred, as pleaded as a reason for continuing a system which tended
more than anything else to increase it; and all protests, on the part of the publics were
met by the glorious argument in a circle:
"We can improve the Police Force by means
of the gambling; and we can then put down
the gambling with the improved Police Force."
Time has proved that the Force is worse than ever, and the reason of this defec-tiveness is clearly shown to be that the most ordinary, plain, common sense measures—
such as are familiar to every Police Superintendent in every part of the world—have never yet been adopted.

It may possibly, though not probably, be found ultimately that, even with a thoroughly organised Police Force, it will be beyond
our power to keep gambling within bounds;
but, if this is ultimately to prove the result
of all our endeavours, let us at least arrive at that result by legitimate stages. If we are to show that, even with an efficient Police gambling cannot be held in check, the first step is to improve the organisation and discipline of the Force. Until this is done, we are simply pleading our own neglect in one
department of the public service, as an excuse for the shortcomings in another. Up to the present, nothing with regard to this question has been proved by facts; but that illegal gambling, in common with a great many other crimes—robberies, piracies, murders—has escaped detection, because we have no Detective Service.

Mr. Russell said he had put that to Mr. Bre-
tron on the previous day, and he had not admitted it.

Mr. Bretron assured his Worship that there were original admissions, and that it was only that he had not admitted the
case might have been decided on the day before. Mr. Bretron had said that he was prepared to show that these were rings from the Kei Cheung shop, and not the men's. The Inspector, however, by his words, himself argued that the rings were not here. All he can to show was that, if he identified the rings, the defendant had obtained them lawfully. But he had not identified them; and he was not going to force her to take them.

He said he had been unable to do so, because
able to shake the evidence, he would not argue against it by producing any more. It was not necessarily after all that the rings might have gone out of the defendant's hands into
those of the Inspector.

Mr. Bretron—No, I won't offer fresh evidence, but I leave the objection for what it is,
as far as my instructions.

Mr. Russell—This is nothing. They will not object you to do nothing.

Mr. Bretron insisted on the probability of the instructions he had received, and placed before the Court.

Mr. Russell—But you can't say probabilities against a man for facts which were not proved. The Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and the Loi on the 3rd. The Yacht Club was obtained by a man named Loi, and the Loi
was obtained by a man named Yacht Club.
The Yacht Club could find no lawful possession, since the rings had never been identified by the person who could identify them.

Mr. Russell said that Mr. Bretron could argue against the decision if he thought proper,
but the Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and the Loi on the 3rd. The Yacht Club was brought to Court with the same rings, and given a good account of how he came by them. (Mr.
Russell) would not have fined him a shilling.

The Yacht Club continues to give great satisfaction to visitors by the new facilities which it affords. The Yacht Club is a memorial with regard to public Gambling, hit the exact point upon which the
question must turn, in noticing that, with an improvement in the numerous Police Forces
existing in the Colony, it would be quite
possible to at least reduce Gambling to such an extent that it could only be carried on in
the worst localities, and in secret haunts,
and that increased energy on the part of the Force would probably prove sufficient to put
it down in these places also. This is a plain and common sense view of the subject. No
optimist ideas or exaggerated hopes enter into the argument. It amounts simply to this.
If we cannot suppress gambling, essentially, at least let us do our best; and we can not say that we have done so best, or indeed
that we have done anything, so long as the
most strenuous efforts are not made to improve the Police Force. This impossibility of doing this by the ordinary means was
dwell upon so strongly by Sir RICHARD
MACDONNELL in his advocacy of the Gambling Licensing, that many were misled
into an exaggerated idea of the difficulty.

Laterly, however, sufficient has been revealed, with regard to the utter want
of organisation in the Police Service, to make it clear that very little weight can be attached to any arguments based upon the
impossibility of obtaining a Force, which would be quite sufficient to cope with illegal
gambling haunts, at least to the extent suggested by the Chamber of Commerce, which
is that gambling would be reduced to a minimum, and rendered disreputable, in the eyes of the populace. It is only during the last two years that the defects of the Hongkong Police Force have been thoroughly revealed. The mixed jurisdiction, by means of which the Registrar-General's Department is made to exercise a species of Police Government utterly subversive of Discipline in the Regular Force; the absence of any means of
detecting crime; the complete ignorance not
only of the Police, but of the whole Government, with regard to what is going on in the Colony (in witness to the recently discovered
Salt Taxing Office, of which the officials knew
absolutely nothing); the reliance placed by
the Executive upon the Private Detectives of Mr. D. R. CALDWELL, even with regard to the most notorious matters—all these circumstances,
carefully hidden from the public view, have
been dragged to light during the last two years. And what is the conclusion?—simply that a policy of "push it" has been systematically
carried on; that no bold idea has ever been made to strike at the root of the defect in
the government of the Colony, but that the
gambling system was snapp'd, at as a
species of compromise, which would, at least
have the effect of keeping "unpleasant facts"
in connection with the detectiveness of the Police and the local administration with regard to the Chinese, in the background;
while it would also secure a handsome sum
annually to the Government. The money,
it was always alleged, and as it turns out,
truly alleged, by Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL,
was not wanted—although he declared repeatedly that the Colony was on the verge
of Bankruptcy; but, while giving full
credence to Sir RICHARD's declaration, it
must be confessed he framed his estimate
so as to spend the money royal. All this time, however, no sincere effort was made to amend the Police Force. It had been repeatedly pointed out that the chief thing
wanted was a Detective Service, a fact indeed
so obvious that it might be imagined it
hardly required pointing out at all. Sir
RICHARD MACDONNELL proposed everything
but a Detective Service; and further actually arranged that only two Inspectors out of the whole Force should have access to the Gambling Forces. Thus the Licensing system
tended directly to render the Police Force
less efficient than ever at the very point
in which it required ameliorating; and it
gradually became more, and more apparent
that the Authorities were utterly in the dark.

This detectiveness of the Police Force,
deliberately incurred, as pleaded as a reason
for continuing a system which tended
more than anything else to increase it; and
all protests, on the part of the publics were
met by the glorious argument in a circle:
"We can improve the Police Force by means
of the gambling; and we can then put down
the gambling with the improved Police Force."
Time has proved that the Force is
worse than ever, and the reason of this defec-tiveness is clearly shown to be that the most
ordinary, plain, common sense measures—
such as are familiar to every Police Superintendent in every part of the world—have
never yet been adopted.

It may possibly, though not probably, be
found ultimately that, even with a thoroughly organised Police Force, it will be beyond
our power to keep gambling within bounds;
but, if this is ultimately to prove the result
of all our endeavours, let us at least arrive
at that result by legitimate stages. If we are to show that, even with an efficient Police
gambling cannot be held in check, the first
step is to improve the organisation and discipline of the Force. Until this is done, we are simply pleading our own neglect in one
department of the public service, as an excuse for the shortcomings in another. Up to the present, nothing with regard to this question has been proved by facts; but that
illegal gambling, in common with a great
many other crimes—robberies, piracies, murders—has escaped detection, because we have
no Detective Service.

Mr. Russell said he had put that to Mr. Bre-tron on the previous day, and he had not admitted it.

Mr. Bretron assured his Worship that there were original admissions, and that it was only that he had not admitted the
case might have been decided on the day before. Mr. Bretron had said that he was prepared to show that these were rings from
the Kei Cheung shop, and not the men's. The Inspector, however, by his words, himself argued that the rings were not here. All he can to show
was that, if he identified the rings, the defendant had obtained them lawfully. But he had not identified them; and he was not going
to force her to take them.

He said he had been unable to do so, because
able to shake the evidence, he would not argue against it by producing any more. It was not necessarily after all that the rings might
have gone out of the defendant's hands into
those of the Inspector.

Mr. Bretron—No, I won't offer fresh evidence, but I leave the objection for what it is,
as far as my instructions.

Mr. Russell—This is nothing. They will not object you to do nothing.

Mr. Bretron insisted on the probability of the instructions he had received, and placed
before the Court.

Mr. Russell—But you can't say probabilities
against a man for facts which were not proved. The Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and the Loi on the 3rd. The Yacht Club
was obtained by a man named Loi, and the Loi
was obtained by a man named Yacht Club.
The Yacht Club could find no lawful possession, since the rings had never been identified by the person who could identify them.

Mr. Russell said that Mr. Bretron could
argue against the decision if he thought proper,
but the Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and the Loi on the 3rd. The Yacht Club was brought to Court with the same rings, and given a good account of how he came by them. (Mr.
Russell) would not have fined him a shilling.

The Yacht Club continues to give great
satisfaction to visitors by the new facilities
which it affords. The Yacht Club is a memorial with regard to public Gambling, hit the exact point upon which the
question must turn, in noticing that, with an improvement in the numerous Police Forces
existing in the Colony, it would be quite
possible to at least reduce Gambling to such an extent that it could only be carried on in
the worst localities, and in secret haunts,
and that increased energy on the part of the Force would probably prove sufficient to put
it down in these places also. This is a plain and common sense view of the subject. No
optimist ideas or exaggerated hopes enter into the argument. It amounts simply to this.
If we cannot suppress gambling, essentially, at least let us do our best; and we can not say that we have done so best, or indeed
that we have done anything, so long as the
most strenuous efforts are not made to improve the Police Force. This impossibility of doing this by the ordinary means was
dwell upon so strongly by Sir RICHARD
MACDONNELL in his advocacy of the Gambling Licensing, that many were misled
into an exaggerated idea of the difficulty.

Laterly, however, sufficient has been revealed, with regard to the utter want
of organisation in the Police Service, to make it clear that very little weight can be attached to any arguments based upon the
impossibility of obtaining a Force, which would be quite sufficient to cope with illegal
gambling haunts, at least to the extent suggested by the Chamber of Commerce, which
is that gambling would be reduced to a minimum, and rendered disreputable, in the eyes of the populace. It is only during the last two years that the defects of the Hongkong Police Force have been thoroughly revealed. The mixed jurisdiction, by means of which the Registrar-General's Department is made to exercise a species of Police Government utterly subversive of Discipline in the Regular Force; the absence of any means of
detecting crime; the complete ignorance not
only of the Police, but of the whole Government, with regard to what is going on in the Colony (in witness to the recently discovered
Salt Taxing Office, of which the officials knew
absolutely nothing); the reliance placed by
the Executive upon the Private Detectives of Mr. D. R. CALDWELL, even with regard to the most notorious matters—all these circumstances,
carefully hidden from the public view, have
been dragged to light during the last two years. And what is the conclusion?—simply that a policy of "push it" has been systematically
carried on; that no bold idea has ever been made to strike at the root of the defect in
the government of the Colony, but that the
gambling system was snapp'd, at as a
species of compromise, which would, at least
have the effect of keeping "unpleasant facts"
in connection with the detectiveness of the Police and the local administration with regard to the Chinese, in the background;
while it would also secure a handsome sum
annually to the Government. The money,
it was always alleged, and as it turns out,
truly alleged, by Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL,
was not wanted—although he declared repeatedly that the Colony was on the verge
of Bankruptcy; but, while giving full
credence to Sir RICHARD's declaration, it
must be confessed he framed his estimate
so as to spend the money royal. All this time, however, no sincere effort was made to amend the Police Force. It had been repeatedly pointed out that the chief thing
wanted was a Detective Service, a fact indeed
so obvious that it might be imagined it
hardly required pointing out at all. Sir
RICHARD MACDONNELL proposed everything
but a Detective Service; and further actually arranged that only two Inspectors out of the whole Force should have access to the Gambling Forces. Thus the Licensing system
tended directly to render the Police Force
less efficient than ever at the very point
in which it required ameliorating; and it
gradually became more, and more apparent
that the Authorities were utterly in the dark.

This detectiveness of the Police Force,
deliberately incurred, as pleaded as a reason
for continuing a system which tended
more than anything else to increase it; and
all protests, on the part of the publics were
met by the glorious argument in a circle:
"We can improve the Police Force by means
of the gambling; and we can then put down
the gambling with the improved Police Force."
Time has proved that the Force is
worse than ever, and the reason of this defec-tiveness is clearly shown to be that the most
ordinary, plain, common sense measures—
such as are familiar to every Police Superintendent in every part of the world—have
never yet been adopted.

It may possibly, though not probably, be
found ultimately that, even with a thoroughly organised Police Force, it will be beyond
our power to keep gambling within bounds;
but, if this is ultimately to prove the result
of all our endeavours, let us at least arrive
at that result by legitimate stages. If we are to show that, even with an efficient Police
gambling cannot be held in check, the first
step is to improve the organisation and discipline of the Force. Until this is done, we are simply pleading our own neglect in one
department of the public service, as an excuse for the shortcomings in another. Up to the present, nothing with regard to this question has been proved by facts; but that
illegal gambling, in common with a great
many other crimes—robberies, piracies, murders—has escaped detection, because we have
no Detective Service.

Mr. Russell said he had put that to Mr. Bre-tron on the previous day, and he had not admitted it.

Mr. Bretron assured his Worship that there were original admissions, and that it was only that he had not admitted the
case might have been decided on the day before. Mr. Bretron had said that he was prepared to show that these were rings from
the Kei Cheung shop, and not the men's. The Inspector, however, by his words, himself argued that the rings were not here. All he can to show
was that, if he identified the rings, the defendant had obtained them lawfully. But he had not identified them; and he was not going
to force her to take them.

He said he had been unable to do so, because
able to shake the evidence, he would not argue against it by producing any more. It was not necessarily after all that the rings might
have gone out of the defendant's hands into
those of the Inspector.

Mr. Bretron—No, I won't offer fresh evidence, but I leave the objection for what it is,
as far as my instructions.

Mr. Russell—This is nothing. They will not object you to do nothing.

Mr. Bretron insisted on the probability of the instructions he had received, and placed
before the Court.

Mr. Russell—But you can't say probabilities
against a man for facts which were not proved. The Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and the Loi on the 3rd. The Yacht Club was obtained by a man named Loi, and the Loi
was obtained by a man named Yacht Club.
The Yacht Club could find no lawful possession, since the rings had never been identified by the person who could identify them.

Mr. Russell said that Mr. Bretron could
argue against the decision if he thought proper, but the Yacht Club was taken on the 2nd Feb., and<br

Notices of Firms.

NOTICE.
THE undersigned has this day established a branch at Saigon, as Commissioners Agents, No. 2 Gage Street.
J. R. JOSHUA.
In 233 Hongkong, 7th February, 1871.

THE interest and responsibility of Mr.
THEODORE FROST, in our firm, ceases from this date.

Wm. FUSTAU & Co.
Hongkong and China, 7th February, 1871. (6m 257)

WE have this day established a branch of our firm at Saigon, as Commissioners
MERCHANTS. A. G. HOGG & Co.
Hongkong and Saigon.
263 217 Saigon, 13th January, 1871.

NOTICE.
THE Partnership between us, existing between the undersigned and Mr. W. J. ALIX, by agreement of time on December 31st, 1870, on which date our interest and responsibility in the firm ceased.

All liabilities will be discharged, and all debts collected, by Mr. W. J. ALIX, who will sign the first negotiable documents.

Mr. E. J. HUNT will sign Alix & Co. in liquidation, per procuratum, at Nagasaki.

Mr. MOYRILIAN will sign Alix & Co. in liquidation, per procuratum, at Hiogo, Osaka.

W. J. ALIX
EDWARD LINDAU.

Nagasaki and Hiogo, Osaka.

January 14th, 1871.

NOTICE.

DEPENDING to the above advertisement,
the business of Alix & Co. at this port
will henceforth be continued by the Undersigned, under the same style and firm as before-told.

H. J. HUNT.
F. HELLYER.

Nagasaki, January, 1871.

NOTICE.

DEPENDING to the above advertisement,
the business of Alix & Co. at this port
will henceforth be continued by the Undersigned, under the style and firm of MOYRILIAN, Hermann & Co.

W. A. HEIMANN & Co.

Hiogo, January, 1871.

NOTICE.

I HAVE appointed Mr. J. M. ARMSTRONG as my Attorney and Agent to act for me in the conduct of my business during my temporary absence from the Colony.

L. F. WARD.

100 Hongkong, 16th January, 1871.

NOTICE.

WE have this day established a branch of our House at Hawick.

The business at our Agencies in Tientsin, Kiating and Ningpo, will henceforth be conducted in the name of our firm by our selected Agents in charge.

RUSSELL & Co.

182 China, 1st January, 1871.

NOTICE.

M. R. DUNCAN DAVIDSON is a partner in our firm from this date.

BROWN & Co.

5m 5 Amoy, 1st January, 1871.

THE undersigned having this day appointed the above Merchant and Commission Agents, will conduct their business under the name and style of NORTON, LYALL & Co.

EDWARD NORTON,
ROBERT LYALL.

1 Hongkong, 1st January, 1871.

NOTICE.

M. E. D. BARBOUR retires from our firm from this date, and Mr. J. W.
MURRAY FORBES Jr. is authorized to sign on behalf of the firm.

For his protection.

RUSSELL & Co.

107 China, 1st January, 1871.

NOTICE.

M. H. WILSON, HENRY MOORE and Mr.
Oscar FAIRMAN have this day been admitted partners in our firm.

EDWARD ATKINSON & Co.

1258 Hongkong, 30th June, 1870.

NOTICE.

M. E. THOMAS H. DE SILVEZ is admitted a partner in our firm from the 1st of October, 1869.

L. FRICKEL & Co.

2003 Hongkong, 21st October, 1869.

NOTICE.

ESTATE OF THE LATE CAPTAIN JOHN TOWNSEND.

ALL Persons indebted to, or having claims against the above Estate, are requested to communicate with

RICH. F. HAWKE,
One of the Executors.

2245 Hongkong, 24th December, 1870.

NOTICE.

ESTATE OF J. E. ENDICOTT, Esq.

Deceased.

ALL persons being indebted to, or having claims against the above Estate, are requested to communicate with

GEORGE F. HEARD,
Administrator.

154 Hongkong, 24th January, 1871.

THE undersigned has this day appointed Agent to the East Point Silver Smelting Company, and is prepared to supply Storekeepers and Contractors with

REFINED SUGARS.

GOLDEN S.Y.U.P.

MOLASSES,

AND

B. U. M.,

in quantities to suit purchasers.

G. WILSON,

23 Wallington Street,
Hongkong, 16th January, 1871. (442 26)

A. MILLAR & CO.,
HOUSE, SHIP, AND STEAMBOAT PLUMBERS.

COPPERSMITHS & BRAHFOUNDRERS.

FOR SALE.

Sheet Copper, Copper Pipe, and Copper Wire.

Brass, Brass " " Brass

Lead, Lead " " Lead

Iron, Iron " " Iron

Zinc, Zinc " " Zinc

Bronze, and Soft Solder and Brass.

Stainless Box and plain plated Flange Cocks.

Globe Valves, Steam Gauge, Air and Pet. Cocks.

Tallow and Water Sprinklers.

Ships' Companion, Water Valve, Water Closets,

Water Closet, Wash-basin, Basin in

Earthenware and Enamelled Iron, assorted sizes and patterns.

FOR HOUSE BUILDING PURPOSES.

Brick, Lime, Sand, and Water.

Iron Pipes and Fittings, all sizes for gas services and water supplies.

Lift Pumps, for water supplies from wells, and Pumping Plants.

Water Closets, Urinals, and Wash-hand Basins, fixed on the most improved principle.

House Bell fixed on the direct acting principle, with Furniture, Bedsteads, and other articles.

IRON and WORK EXP-
CITED WITH CARE & EXPEDITION.

No. 1 Queen's Road East and Nubla Lane,

Opposite H.M. Naval Dock Yard.

16th September, 1870.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

A. FONG, Photographic Artist, begs to inform his patients and the public generally, that he has just returned from Swatow, and is now prepared to take Photographs at a moderate price. He has for Sale, also, at his Photographic Gallery, 54, Queen's Road (opposite the Oriental Bank), a collection of Swatow views, in two parts.

133 Hongkong, 31st January, 1871.

THE TOURIST'S GUIDE—FOURTH

REDUCED PRICE $1.

Containing the names of all the Articles of Trade, objects of Natural History, Furniture, etc., &c., with the Punti, and Mandarin Pronunciation.

Also a few copies of the GRAMMAR of the Chinese Language, in two parts.

The Daily Press Office.

Vessels on the Berth.

FOR YOKOHAMA, direct.

THE British Steamship

"OBERON"

shortly expected from London and Singapore,
will have quick despatch for the above port.

For Freight, apply to

GILMAN & Co.

of 120 Hongkong, 1st January, 1871.

FOR LONDON (via SYNEZ CANAL) Calling at PORTSMOUTH and PENANG.

THE O. S. S. Co., S. S.

"AJAX,"

will leave this Port on about the 1st February.

For Freight or Passage, apply to

BUTTERFIELD & SWIRE,

Agents,

Queen's Road,

132 196 Hongkong, 31st January, 1871.

FOR SYDNEY.

THE British Ship

"NEVILLE,"

shortly expected from London and Singapore,
will have quick despatch for the above port.

For Freight, apply to ROSELLI & Co.

of 213 Hongkong, 2nd January, 1871.

FOR PORTLAND, OREGON.

THE American Barque

"EDWARD JAMES,"

Patterson, Master, having the greater portion of her cargo engaged, will meet with early despatch as above.

For Freight or Passage, apply to

OLYPHANT & Co.

of 151 Hongkong, 24th January, 1871.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

THE British Barque

"ROMEO,"

will have quick despatch for the above port.

For Freight, apply to

OLYPHANT & Co.

of 176 Hongkong, 23rd January, 1871.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

THE American Barque

"COLOMA,"

with the greater portion of her cargo engaged,
will meet with early despatch.

For Freight, apply to

OLYPHANT & Co.

of 137 Hongkong, 21st January, 1871.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

THE British ship

"INDO-CHINESE SUGAR COMPANY,"

LIMITED.

NOTICE.

WE have this day established a branch of our firm at Saigon, as Commissioners

MERCHANTS.

CHARLES A. HEIMANN,

Hiogo, Osaka, January, 1871.

THE business hitherto carried on by the undersigned will be transferred to the Undersigned, under the same style and firm as before-
told.

H. J. HUNT.

<p

Extracts.

Intimations.

Health Restored
By the Use of Bristol's Sugar-Coated Vegetable Pills.

These Pills have already acquired a widely-extented reputation for their wonderful cures of severe cases of sickness—cases in which all other Medicines had failed, and which had been given up by Physicians as beyond help—such as consumption, and other diseases of the lungs, women and the men of that portion of the American population which is less developed; while in many parts of the country there is an uneasiness, feeling, perhaps derived from our Puritan ancestors, that there is something disgraceful in a necessary but regrettable recognition of the domination of Satan over man, while man is as yet confined in the corrupt houses of this body. For one reason or another, although there is water, earth, air, and fire, and all the elements of life, there is no country of food, and dinner might be glorified, there are nowhere in the world forty millions of souls who feed, as wastefully and sinfully as little as the people of the United States. Moral crimes are, doubtless, the actions of the flesh, but the peculiarities of our flesh—the imaginary line that separates us from our provincial friends, there is dining—dining as solid, substantial, leisurely, earnest, dignified and productive of robust men and women, as the eating of the poor, who, as German immigration is teaching us, how to drink the Bismarck, when General Butler and Mr. Chandler have "enriched" them over—as the white said, when he hit the sailor with the handspike—may teach us Christian habits of eating.—The Nation.

A little bit of "History." One day a hundred miners up in California bit himself with a brimstone and sulfur, and, after a week of agonies, and a feverish article of a water-cure, he applied a brimstone of whiskey to his lips and kept it there until, like a rotted loach, it fell off. The man died of it. The next day, with a new article of a water-cure, the bereaved portion of the deceased was undergoing in a game of seven-up with a friendly Chinaman, the game was interrupted by a friendly voice, which seemed to proceed from the jaws of the corpse. "I say, Jim!" Bereaved partner, looking up, saw his chum at the melancholy remains replied, "Well, what is it, Jim?" "I'm busy," "I say, Jim!" repeated the corpse in the same measured tone. With a look of intense annoyance, and muttering something about a poor old man, and a dead and mournful sound, the bereaved partner rose and stood over the body, with his hands in his pockets. "Jim," continued the mighty lad, "how's this thing gone?" "I've paid the Chinaman two and a half to dig the grave, and it will be three when I'm done." The Chinaman looked up. "No, sir, you didn't me bury dead Mexican in 'em grave. Ma' keep him alive." The corpse sat up rigidly. "Jim, get my revolver and chase that pig off. Jump his neophyte, and tax him five dollars each for prospectin' on the public roads. I'll pay you back when you get to be under. And I say!—If it any more serpents come fiddlin' round here, drive 'em off. Taint right to be bitten a fellow when whisky's two dollars a gallon. Dera all foreigners, anyhow." And the mortal part pulled on his coat. "Well, dear reader, was the origin of the code movement—San Francisco News Letter.

The guardian of the Kaesong Monks was not slow to inquire whether it was the rapid decline of the Papal power, and consequently of the Roman Catholic faith, which caused the degradation of Italian music; or whether, when sound came to be understood, the ear, the heart, and the soul, were not pleased, the temptation to use it simply as the slave of the sense proved too great for a politically degraded people, whose religion had become half an indulged superstition and half a still more indulgent scepticism; certain it is that the German school will be still more degraded, who died at 1783, the high culture of music passed from Italy to Germany, which latter country was destined precisely to see the rise and astonishing progress of symphony and modern oratorios, whilst Italy developed itself hereto to the point of an almost complete loss of the living Opera. We cannot doubt to Italy the gift of sweet and enchanting melody. Rosini has shown himself a master of the very limited effects of harmony which it suited his purpose to cultivate. Then why is not Rosini's music higher than the Italian, because it is a truer expression, and a more disciplined expression of the emotions? To follow a movement of Beethoven in the first place, a bracing exercise of the mind, and then to follow a movement of Rossini, is like a walk in the sun, and a walk in the shade.

Best Blood Purifier. Bristol's Sarsaparilla is becoming at once indisputable and self-evident. It was first introduced in the year 1852, and, from that date until the present time, its progress has been uniform and steady, every year showing an increase in the number of its adherents, until to-day it is acknowledged to be the best.

ENTIRELY DIFFERENT. From all others. It contains no minerals, and can be used freely, with perfect safety, in all kinds of weather, rainy or dry. It does not require the addition of any article to make it effective. It is strong enough for the robust man, and is safe for the weakest infant. Every ingredient is in it.

BENEFICIAL TO HEALTH. For every form of miasmatic disease it is a safe and reliable remedy, being a perfect antidote to all forms of miasma, and a powerful preventive of debility and a healthy stomach. In Beethoven all is restrained, nothing morbid which is not almost instantly corrected; nothing luxurious which is not finally raised into the clear atmosphere of wholesomeness and refinement; nothing which is not of a trifling, self-sacrificing, or even playfulness. And the emotions that remain are not the wanned-up feelings of a jaded appetite, or the false, insensuous spasm of the sentimentalists. They are such as we have experienced in high music, or perhaps in the more refined and in the soberer forms, or by the more simple, they are unfolded before us; not with the want of perspective, or violent frenzy of a mad dream, but with true gradations in natural succession, and tempered with all the middle tints that go to make up the picture of the whole. The entire structure of the emotional series goes through in listening to typical German and typical Italian music. It is because German music is higher than the Italian, because it is a truer expression, and a more disciplined expression of the emotions.

To follow a movement of Beethoven in the first place, a bracing exercise of the mind, and then to follow a movement of Rossini, is like a walk in the sun, and a walk in the shade.

For Bristol's Sarsaparilla, Agents—British and Mercantile Insurance Company, 108 Hongkong, 10th March, 1868.

For Sale at the Hongkong Dispensary.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS.

POETS of all ages have celebrated in song the beauty of flowers. Their fancies have ever delighted in linking the purest and holiest sentiments and feelings of the human heart to the floral beauties they so much admired. Every flower, from the tiny, frail fragrant flower of the violet, to the large, stately, and fragrant flower of the rose, is the emblem of some condition, attribute, or action in life.

The sweet Verbena is the mate representative of "Sensibility." While the fragrant Tuberosa speaks of "dangerous pleasure." The Wild Rose is the sign of "Youthful Freshness," while the gloomy Pansy is "Anger." But there is another property possessed by the flowers, not less important than their beauty of form and color,—we refer to the fragrance which they can communicate with the fragrance of the blossoming roses or the other fragrances of the virgin lily. Art tries and tries in vain to equal them. Chemistry, which seems to know no limit to its powers of simulation, fails completely in its efforts at producing the delicacy, combined with the richness of Nature's perfume; and, with the single exception of

MURAT & LAMM'S FLORIDA WATER.

We know of no preparation where the simple and natural fragrance of the flowers is preserved unaltered and unimpaired. The flowers themselves fade quickly away, and their exquisite fragrance is soon lost. The flower of the rose is the most fragrant, and—preserved for all time, unchangeable as an accessory to the toilet.

BRILLIANT ROOMS, BOWLING ALLEYS, &c.

HOUSE AND SHIP PLUMBER, COPPER SMITH, BRASS FOUNDER AND GAS FITTER (LATE PATERSON & HANLEY), 78, 1867, Hongkong, 19th September, 1870.

House for the F. & G. Coal Stores, 14, 1861, HONGKONG, Sept. 15.

For Sale at the Hongkong Dispensary.

Insurances.

PACIFIC INSURANCE COMPANY, SAN FRANCISCO.

The Undersigned Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant POLICIES against Fire on Buildings and Goods, at current rates.

4864 Hongkong, 7th February, 1870.

PACIFIC INSURANCE COMPANY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents in China for the above Insurance Company, and prepared to grant Policies against Marine Risks at the current Rates.

RUSSELL & CO., 473 Hongkong, 2nd March, 1867.

KANG-SZE INSURANCE ASSOCIATION OF SHANGHAI.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, to all parts of the World.

In addition to the usual brokerage, thirty per cent (30%) of the Profits will be returned to the Undersigned.

Agents for the above Company, to all parts of the World.

W.M. PUSTAU & CO., Agents, 1462 Hongkong, 27th July, 1870.

NOTICE.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, to all parts of the World, at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 1st January, 1870.

BRITISH SEA AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents in Hongkong for the above-named Company, are prepared to grant Policies against Sea Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 1st April, 1865.

NORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents in China for the above-named Company, and prepared to grant Policies against Marine Risks at the current Rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

NOTICE.

THE ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE OF LONDON.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, to all parts of the World.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

WING-KEE COAL SHOP.

The Proprietor of WING-KEE's Shop beg to inform the Public that his Shop has been established since 1855, at London's "Lower

Woolwich Dock, and the Carcasses of small Ships, also, Ships Building and Repairing, Barges and other Vessels on Navigable Rivers and Canals, and Goods on board such Vessels, throughout Great Britain and Ireland, and in Foreign Countries, from Loss or Damage by FIRE.

The Undersigned Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against

Fire to the extent of $60,000 on any one Fire

Class Risk.

GIBB, LIVINGSTON & CO., Agents, 126 129, Hongkong, 7th July, 1870.

NOTICE.

COMPAGNIE LYONNAISE D'ASSURANCES MARITIMES.

Societe anonyme libre au Capital de 600,000 francs (en quartiers).

This Company, being associated for part in the Marine Insurance in the Far East, with the

LLOYD FRANCAIS, Capital of 6,000,000 francs.

ASSURANCES MARITIMES, Capital of 5,000,000 francs.

ASSURANCES MARITIMES, Societe de a collective Capital of 17,000,000 francs.

Agencies established, and Policies made available for the use of Agents in China.

Capital Two Million Sterling.

Agents for the above Company, are prepared to change the rates in future.

Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against Marine Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th January, 1870.

THE GUARDIAN FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, No. 11, LOMBARD STREET, LONDON, B.C.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

And empowered by special Acts of Parliament.

Subscribed Capital £2,000,000, Sterling.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, are prepared to take risks against Fire, on the basis of 10 per cent.

OLYMPIAN & CO., Agents, 2317 Hongkong, 7th December, 1869.

IMPERIAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

REDUCTION IN THE RATES OF PREMIUM.

NOTICE. To the following Annual Premium.

Insurance issued for the year 1870.

RATES WILL BE CHARGED FOR FIRE INSURANCE.

For the year 1870.

HOLLIDAY, WISE & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 1st November, 1870.

THE LIVERPOOL AND BIRMINGHAM INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1843.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company at this Port, are prepared to grant Policies against Marine Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

NOTICE.

THE LONDON ASSURANCE, INCORPORATED BY ROYAL CHARTER.

1870.

THE MAJESTIC LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against

Marine Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

NOTICE.

THE LONDON ASSURANCE, INCORPORATED BY ROYAL CHARTER.

1870.

THE MAJESTIC LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against

Marine Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

NOTICE.

THE LONDON ASSURANCE, INCORPORATED BY ROYAL CHARTER.

1870.

THE MAJESTIC LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against

Marine Risks at current rates.

RUSSELL & CO., Agents, 473 Hongkong, 27th August, 1870.

NOTICE.

THE LONDON ASSURANCE, INCORPORATED BY ROYAL CHARTER.

1870.

THE MAJESTIC LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The Undersigned having been appointed Agents for the above Company, are prepared to grant Policies against</